HEINZEL MONDI SAPPI AWARD 2018

The Heinzl-Mondi-Sappi Award recognizes outstanding publications (PhD theses, master theses, journal publications, review papers, survey reports...) having a potentially significant positive effect on the future of the pulp and paper industry.

The Heinzl-Mondi-Sappi Award is awarded annually to the authors of the most outstanding publications during the preceding year in 3 different categories:

- Pulping Process (including utilization of side streams from the pulping process)
- Cascaded Use of Wood (including novel materials from wood)
- Paper- and Board Making Process (including novel paper and board grades/utilization)

The award intends to raise attention to the pulp and paper research area. Especially young scientists should be motivated to become active in this fascinating, bio-inspired and demanding research area.

The prize is awarded by the 3 companies Heinzl Group, Mondi and Sappi and consists of a 10.000 € honorarium in total, that is split up evenly between the three categories. It is intended to support early stage researchers who performed their research at a European institute or in collaboration with a European institute.

To be eligible for the Award, the contribution must meet the following criteria:

- Contribution (PhD thesis, master thesis, journal publication, review paper, survey report...) must have a proven or potential significant positive effect on the pulp and paper value chain in one of the three categories mentioned above
- Author (first author in case of journal publications) must be ≤ 35 years of age
- Publication must be in English or German
- Contributions must have a publication date between January 1st, 2017 and February 28th, 2018.

Nominations have to be submitted latest by March 15th, 2018 and have to consist of a digital copy of the publication, a CV of the author and a short cover letter by the author (1-2 pages), which highlights the contributions of the paper to the selected category. A letter of support by a representative from industry or from academia will strengthen the application, but is not required.

A panel of industrial and scientific experts will select the winners in each of the three categories.

The Heinz-Mondi-Sappi Award 2018 will be presented on Wednesday, May 16th, 2018 at the PAPER & BIOREFINERY CONFERENCE in Graz, Austria. The award winners or at least one of the co-authors have to be present to receive the award in person. Further, the award winners are expected to present their contribution at the conference (May 16th or May 17th).

Nominations for the Heinz-Mondi-Sappi Award 2018 should be sent to the Institute of Paper, Pulp and Fiber Technology at Graz University of Technology.
